HARMONY IS CRY OF ONE FACTION

Other Says There Will be None as Long as John Gantner Stays
in the Race.

FOR COUNTY CHAIRMANSHIP

Democrats Not Making Fight on Man
But "Road-Roller" Methods
Attempted Here.

Harmony was the cry of Rush county Democrats today after the uproarious convention in Rushville township Friday, but it is calculated that harmony will never dwell in the local organization until the two factions of the party have agreed on a candidate for county chairman.

The "road roller" methods of one wing of the party in the convention here last Friday aroused the ire of the opposing faction and from the manner in which certain Democrats on that side talked today they will take nothing in the form of an agreement until John Gantner steps down and out of the race for county chairman.

From the talk of some Democrats it appears that the great majority of the rank and file is opposed to the county chairmanship being handed down from one to another and still remain in the "family" all the time. It appears that it is the disposition of those who espoused the cause of Jim Casady in the convention here Friday that the county chairmanship ought to be passed around.

It seems that the fight for the chairmanship in the meeting here Thursday will be closely drawn unless John Gantner's name is not presented to the committeemen for the place, and there are no signs today that it will not be presented. The attempt of one faction to elect ten precinct committeemen from Rushville township who favored John Gantner is the cause for the present rumpus in the party, it is said.

It seems that the fight is not so closely drawn on John Gantner as it is on the faction which attempted to force the election of committeemen favorable to Gantner at the convention here. Most Democrats, it is gleaned from the talk today, are opposed to such high-handed methods and will not stand for them a minute.

The faction which represents John Gantner was talking harmony today. They said the party was split two ways, last week, but that harmony was the watchword now. They declared the meeting here Thursday to reorganize the county committee would slip off like it was greased and there would be no signs of contention.

On the other hand one member of the faction which opposed the "road-roller" in the convention here said

MRS. JACOB BLOUNT DEAD

Passed Away at Home of Brother,
Charles Rich.

Mrs. Permelia Blount, 60 years old, widow of the late Jacob Blount, died Sunday morning at 8:45 o'clock at the home of her brother, Charles Rich, one and one-half miles west of Raleigh. Mrs. Blount had been ill for several weeks, suffering with stomach trouble. She is survived by two brothers, Charles and Oliver Rich.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock at the Raleigh Christian church. Burial will take place in the Raleigh cemetery.

today: "John Gantner will never be elected chairman. There are a lot of us who are opposed to having it handed down all the time. We would like to see it passed around. They may talk harmony if they wish, but there will never be any harmony so long as methods are used like those in the convention here Friday."

The precinct committeemen were elected Saturday: Washington township, Ben Black and Charles Miles; Center, Walter Rhodes and George Clark; Jackson, Ollie Siler; Richland, Benton Staples; Walker, John Bird and Howard Clawson; Anderson, Harlan Overleese and Hugh Sparks; Noble, Theodore Holden and John Heeb; Posey, James Crass and John McCoy, and Ripley, L. B. McCarty, Phillip Sattler and John Minor.

REV. M. C. PEARSON GOES TO EARLHAM

Former Knightstown Minister Leaves
Indianapolis to Become Endowment Secretary of College.

KNOWN IN NORTHERN RUSH

The Rev. Morton C. Pearson, for the last nine years pastor of the Friends church in Indianapolis and formerly of Knightstown, has resigned to become endowment secretary of Earlham College. His resignation was tendered the church Sunday afternoon and he will take up his new duties the first of next month. The position he accepted was created recently and is the result of the desire of Earlham college authorities to increase the endowment and obtain a larger enrollment.

The Rev. Mr. Pearson left Knightstown nine years ago to accept the Indianapolis call. He is well known all over northern Rush county. The Rev. Mr. Pearson is chairman of the public morals and legislative committees of the Indianapolis ministerial association and member of the executive committee.

SALOONS AND BANKS CLOSE

But Lincoln's Birthday is Not Generally Observed Here.

The banks and saloons were closed today, but no general recognition was taken of the anniversary of the 103d birthday of Abraham Lincoln, which is a legal holiday in Indiana. The court house was open as usual. The lower corridors were decorated with flags and Lincoln's picture and two large flags were displayed in two of the windows.

MORGAN IN CHARGE.

Prosecuting Attorney, Dennis O'Neil will leave Wednesday for West Baden to take treatment in the sanitarium. During his absence Wallace Morgan will act as prosecutor. Mr. Morgan will have charge of the grand jury.

INFANT SON DEAD.

James Francis, O'Neil, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neil, who died yesterday morning, was buried this afternoon in East Hill cemetery.

FOUR MEN FINED BY MAYOR BLACK

Three Intoxication Cases And One of Assault and Battery Heard in Police Court.

FRED CONDE CUT ON FACE

Blaine Moore, Colored, Resisted Attack Using Knife—Nine Stitches Required to Close Wound.

Police court resumed its usual Monday morning activities after a several weeks' lay off. Three cases of public intoxication and one of assault and battery occupied the attention of Mayor Black.

Blaine Moore, colored, pleaded guilty to assault and battery on Fred Conde. He was fined one dollar and costs amounting to $11, which was paid. Moore and Conde had an encounter Saturday night about ten-thirty o'clock in Morgan street near the corner of Second street. Conde emerged from the fight with several knife slashes across the right side of the face. One of the slashes cut the lower part of his ear. Conde was removed to the jail where Dr. Wooden attended his injuries. It required nine stitches to close the wounds. The cause of the fight is not known, but it is understood that Moore acted in self-defense. Two witnesses testified as to Moore's character, and Mayor Black made the fine as low as possible. George Adams, colored, who was arrested with Moore, was released as it was shown that he acted as peacemaker and was not involved in the fighting. At first the police were unable to learn which of the two men did the cutting, so held Adams.

Conde was arrested for public intoxication and pleaded guilty to the charge. His fine of eleven dollars was stayed.

After the fight Moore went to his home. While going after Moore Chief McAllister found Manuel Newlin and Gus West in a beastly state of intoxication. Both men were past walking and were found in the street in front of the residence of John P. Frazee in North Main street. Chief McAllister deputized Harry Pea and they succeeded in getting the two to jail. Newlin and West pleaded guilty this morning. Because of the number of cases a great crowd was attracted to the court room.

PARALYSIS PROVES FATAL

Mrs Lydia Saul Dies at Home in Raleigh.

Mrs. Lydia Saul, 77 years old, wife of Dallas P. Saul, died yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at her home in Raleigh. Mrs. Saul suffered a stroke of paralysis Saturday and because of her advanced age little hope was maintained for her recovery. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Charles Sweet, and one son, William Matthews. The funeral services will be held tomorrow at two o'clock in the Raleigh Christian church. Burial will take place in the cemetery there.

PLEADS FOR LIFE LIKE LINCOLN'S

The Rev. Cyrus Yocum Urges His Virtues be Emulated and His Faults Forgotten.

RELIGIOUS LIFE OF LINCOLN

Pastor Declares it Had Limitations
Because Martyred President Never Publicly Confessed Christ.

Abraham Lincoln possessed the qualities of faith, hope and love, declared the Rev. Cyrus Yocum, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, in his sermon last night on "The Religion of Abraham Lincoln," but his religion had limitations. It was limited in that he never confessed Jesus Christ publicly and affiliated himself with any church of God, he said.

"Abstract principles," said the Rev. Mr. Yocum in opening his sermon, "are powerless in the shaping of life. We learn more from the men and women about us and from those of history than we do by abstract things. It is well to study the great personages of history and learn how they achieved their success."

The pastor asserted that the year 1809 was probably the most important of the nineteenth century. It gave the world Poe, Holmes, Tennyson, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Darwin, Gladstone, Thomas Campbell's declaration and address, S. F. Smith and Lincoln. He said many others might be mentioned. The minister said Lincoln might be studied as a lawyer, statesman, story teller or orator, but what of his religious life?

The minister said Lincoln's real life might be measured by any of the virtues, faith hope and love. He pointed out the martyred president was a man of faith and believed in God. He said when Lincoln was called to the president's chair, he never looked further; he trusted in God as he journeyed on. He believed in the final triumph of right, the Rev. Mr. Yocum said, because God was always on that side.

The minister referred to Lincoln's Springfield speech which was made just prior to his leaving for Washington to take up his new duties. In this address he conveyed the thought that he looked upon God not as the great judge beyond the grave but an ever-present guide, the pastor said. The minister pointed out Lincoln had faith in Jesus Christ in later life but that he doubted the divinity of Christ in young manhood as many men do when they step from boyhood into manhood.

The Rev. Mr. Yocum declared there were only four books in Lincoln's library and one of these, the most used of the four, was the Bible. He pointed out the martyred president quoted more from scripture than any man ever in public life. He studied, believed in and used the Bible every day and every hour of that great struggle, the pastor declared. The Rev. Mr. Yocum said Lincoln believed in prayer and that many of the great victories of the north were in answer to the prayers of Lincoln.

He recalled the battle of Antetum, which in reality was a draw but which resulted in Lee withdrawing with his army from Maryland. The pastor said history related that Lincoln vowed to God he would emancipate the slaves if the southern army was driven from Maryland, and he was true to his vow.

"Abraham Lincoln was a man of hope," continued the Rev. Mr. Yocum. "He never doubted the result during the long conflict. His face was furrowed but he was a martyr to the cause. He faltered not and never lost hope."

MRS. ANN RAMSEY DIES

Aged Woman Dies After Brief Illness With Pneumonia.

Mrs. Ann Ramsey, 86 years old, widow of Eugene Ramsey, died last night at eight o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dora Hilligoss, southwest of the city. Mrs. Ramsey had been ill about two weeks, suffering with bronchial pneumonia, which caused her death. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Dora Hilligoss, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Cline. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Hilligoss residence, conducted by the Rev. Cyrus Yocum. Burial will take place in Pleasant Run cemetery.

RUSH COUNTY WILL HAVE 14 DELEGATES

Republican State Chairman Issues
Call For Convention to Elect Delegates to National Convention.

PRIMARY ON MARCH 22 OR 23

Rush county will be entitled to fourteen delegates in the Republican State convention which will be held in Tomlinson hall in Indianapolis Tuesday, March 26, for the purpose of nominating four delegates-at-large and four alternates to the Republican national convention and nominating two electors-at-large and two contingent electors to be voted for at the November election. The call has just been issued by Fred Sims, State chairman.

The call provides that the Republicans of each county shall hold primaries Friday and Saturday, March 22 and 23 for the purpose of selecting the stated number of delegates for the convention. The place and hour of meeting will be fixed by the Republican central committee. Representation in the convention is upon the basis of one delegate and alternate for each 200 votes cast for Otto E. Gulley for secretary of State in the last election and a delegate and alternate for an additional fraction of 100 votes or more. Rush county cast 2,743 votes.

GORDON WAMSLEY DIES SUDDENLY

Four-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs.
O. P. Wamsley Succumbs to Blood Poisoning.

VACCINATION IS THE CAUSE

Gordon Wamsley, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Wamsley of Connersville died Sunday at three o'clock at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. B. H. McKee, near New Salem, after a two weeks' illness with blood poisoning caused from a vaccination. The little boy was vaccinated during the smallpox scare in Connersville and blood poisoning developed. He was removed to his grandmother's, but gradually grew worse. The end came suddenly on Sunday morning, the immediate cause being a clot at the base of the brain.

Mr. and Mrs. Wamsley are well known here. Mr. Wamsley formerly lived in New Salem and at present is employed at the McFarlan hotel in Connersville. Gordon was their only child.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the New Salem M. E. church. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

HIT BY EXPRESS; TRIES TO FLAG IT

Frank Meal, Rush County Farmer is Struck by I. & C Car at Waldron.

MISTAKES EXPRESS FOR LOCAL

Suffers Severe Wounds But it is Not Believed They Will Prove Fatal.

Frank Meal, aged sixty years, a resident of Rush county of the near vicinity of Moscow, was struck by the Greensburg Express on the I. & C. lines at Waldron at six-thirty o'clock Saturday night, says the Shelbyville News.

His injuries although extremely serious and painful are not considered dangerous and he was removed to his home early Sunday morning after spending Saturday night at the office of Dr. Keeling in Waldron, where he was taken immediately following the accident. He suffered deep cuts on the back of his head and over the right eye and his body was badly bruised in several spots.

Mr. Meal had spent the greater part of the day Saturday in Waldron and was attempting to flag the Express, which he mistook for a local train, when he was struck. Persons who witnessed the accident state that the aged man stood very near to the side of the track despite their calls to him and the repeated warnings of the car whistle. Efforts to call to him that the car would not stop were unheeded and he stubbornly persisted in his efforts to flag the car until it was too late for either the motorman to stop or for him to step from near the track.

The accident occurred at the corner of the Lantz grocery which is also the traction station and the old man was hurled a distance of several feet when the side of the car struck him. He was thrown upon his face upon the frozen snow at the roadside and it is thought that the cuts upon his head resulted from contact with the ground rather than with the car.

He was not unconscious at any time following the accident and suffered excruciating pain. Dr. Keeling sent for his relatives to come after him Saturday night but when they arrived the doctor changed his mind and would not permit him to be removed to his home until Sunday morning, fearing the ride through the cold to his home, a distance of several miles might result seriously.

Late Sunday night Mr. Meal's condition had improved but little, but it was not thought by his family that his injuries would prove dangerous.

J. W. DARNELL EXPIRES

Brother of Local People Dies at His Home in Chalmers.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of J. W. Darnell, brother of Ed Darnell of this city and Mrs. L. B. Weaver and Sam Darnell of this county, at his home at Chalmers, Indiana. His demise was due to a complication of diseases. He had been suffering with asthma and heart trouble for some time. Three weeks ago Ed Darnell went to his bedside after receiving word he could not live. Mr. Darnell was about sixty years old and leaves a widow, three sons, who are married, and one daughter who resided at home. Mrs. Weaver, Sam and Ed Darnell left this morning to attend the funeral.

NEW CHOLERA PREVENTATIVE

Amboy, (Ind.) Man Declares He Has Method Which Will Stop Spread of Disease.

PLAN TO MAKE THEM IMMUNE

He Arouses Veterinary Surgeons Who Believe Inoculation is Only Successful Method.

An active controversy has been started among live stock experts in Indiana over methods for fighting hog cholera, which is recognized as one of the worst pests the farmer has to deal with, as it is estimated that the cholera sometimes destroys millions of dollars' worth of hogs in this state in a year's time.

Dr. Verne E. Baldwin, of Amboy, Ind., says he has discovered a method for making hogs immune by means of a medicine administered through the mouth in tablet form. This has aroused to activity the veterinary surgeons of the state, who of late have made a large income from

AFTER GRIP

How Strength May Be Recovered.

So many people are asking how to recover their strength after the grip that we are publishing this information for their benefit.

After grip, pleurisy, pneumonia or any exhausting illness what you need is new strength and better blood.

The most certain way to get this is by using our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, called Vinol. It positively does create strength, make the blood rich, sharpen the appetite and increase vitality.

Mrs. Hattie Elms, of Queensbury, N. Y., says: "Last spring I had a hard case of la grippe and was very slow about getting over it. I was almost discouraged. Vinol was recommended to me and I began using it. Now it has done me so much good that I must tell you about it, for I have regained my strength and appetite and feel well again."

Try Vinol with the certainty that if it does not benefit you we will give back your money. F. B. Johnson & Co., druggists, Rushville, Ind.

Keep the scalp clean and free from dandruff with Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo Cream, and the hair will grow long, thick, luxuriant and glossy. Nothing like it. F. B. Johnson & Co. and other druggists.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pains in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are common symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. It has cured many stubborn cases in this vicinity.

Can Rushville residents demand further proof than the following testimonial?

Mrs. L. W. Smith, R. F. D. No. 19, Arlington, Ind., says: "My child was afflicted with kidney complaint and suffered severely from backache and headaches. The doctors could give no relief and the various remedies that were tried proved just as useless. At last we learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and my husband obtained a box. This preparation soon brought relief and since taking it, the child has been in much better health. I give Doan's Kidney Pills my most hearty endorsement."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

their services in inoculating hogs with cholera serum. Up to a short time ago the only successful system of protecting hogs from cholera was by the serum method, which costs 50 cents to 75 cents a hog.

Dr. Baldwin says he has been working on his new method of immunizing hogs for several years, and now feels confident it is successful, as it has been tried on several thousands of hogs. He has been assisted in his researches by his brothers, Dr. C. P. Baldwin, of Amboy, and Dr. Arthur Baldwin, of Peru. In their opinion, the new system of administering the medicine internally will be widely used, as farmers can administer the preparation themselves at a cost of not more than 25 cents a hog.

The advocates of the inoculation of serum are looking askance at the new method and some of them are advocating the passage of a law by the next legislature regulating the administration of cholera medicine to hogs. Dr. Baldwin thinks a fairly drawn law of the kind proposed would be a good thing.

MANCHUS ARE READY TO RENOUNCE THRONE

Edicts Looking for That End Expected Today.

Peking, Feb. 12.—The official promise that edicts will be issued today which will enable the settlement of China's troubles to begin in earnest will probably be carried out. These will approve the terms of the Nanking republicans to the imperialists and renounce the throne. They will also approve the republic plan and confirm the previous power conferred on Premier Yuan Shih Kai to establish a provisional republic in co-operation with the republicans at Nanking.

Later the board of foreign affairs will issue a circular to the legations announcing the change, and it is hoped that all the powers will immediately recognize the government.

CHINA'S CAPITAL

Location of Seat of New Government Now Causing a Hitch.

Shanghai, Feb. 12.—The negotiations between Premier Yuan Shih Kai and the Republican leaders for a definite settlement of the troubles in China are still hanging fire. The main difficulty seems to be as to the capital of the new government. Yuan Shih Kai insists that Peking shall be accepted, but the republicans will not agree to this. They prefer Shanghai or Nanking, but may offer to compromise on Tientsin temporarily and leave the question of the location of the permanent capital to the decision of the national convention, which is to be called to frame a permanent form of government for China.

GOING TO BRING OUT THE FACTS

Alleged Case of Injustice Being Investigated.

VALET RAILROADED TO PRISON

It Is Charged in Reopening the Case Against a Prisoner in New York Penitentiary That Plea of Guilty Was Entered to Crime He Did Not Commit in Order to Shelter Reputation of Woman in Schiff Household.

Dannemora, N. Y., Feb. 12.—For five years a prisoner in Dannemora prison, Folke Engel Brandt, some time valet for Mortimer L. Schiff, son of Jacob H. Schiff, left that institution on the 10:14 train this morning for New York. After a night in the Tombs Brandt will be taken before Supreme Court Justice Gerard, who issued the writ of habeas corpus by which the prisoner's case is to be brought up.

Brandt said that as soon as he reaches New York he will ask to have an interview with District Attorney Whitman. Attorney General Carmody will be present to represent the prosecution in person.

Dannemora has never before seen so much todo made over a prisoner. What with special trains bringing legal documents and their bearers, telegrams by the sheaf, and unlimited long distance telephone calls, the quiet young prisoner with the four white chevrons on the sleeve of his uniform, one for each year he has served, and the white disc above them indicating that he has a perfect record as a prisoner, has been the cause of more excitement in this north country than the most desperate third-termers ever brought here.

Brandt has asserted that he pleaded guilty to a crime he did not commit in order to shelter the reputation of a woman in the Schiff household and that he was promised clemency. Brandt, described as a handsome, attractive man of about twenty-five years, declared at the time of his arraignment and plea to the burglary and assault charge that Mr. Schiff had discharged him from service as valet after his employer had been shown by Mrs. Schiff a letter Brandt had written to her regarding his ambition for a college education. Shortly afterward Brandt entered the Schiff home, met Mr. Schiff, assaulted him with a bowling pin, and two days later was arrested.

In addition to the assault, from which Mr. Schiff suffered no serious injuries, Brandt was charged with the larceny of $200 worth of jewelry. According to the record of the court it has since been alleged that no evidence was produced to show that Brandt forced an entrance to the house, which is necessary for conviction of burglary in the first degree.

MAY REMOVE JUDGE

One of the Probable Effects of Reopening the Brandt Case.

New York, Feb. 12.—Governor Dix will probably pardon Folke E. Brandt before the week is out. The governor feels now that he was imposed upon by Judge Otto A. Rosalsky and others who presented reports to him on the Brandt case.

The pardon will be followed by an investigation by the attorney general to find if improper influences were used in sending the former servant of Mortimer L. Schiff to Clinton for thirty years on a plea of guilty to a crime which the record of the case does not show he committed—burglary in the first degree.

On top of that will be, it is expected, a recommendation from the governor to the state senate that Judge Rosalsky be removed from the bench. Very likely the attorney general will make such representations to the governor as will lead the chief executive to move against Judge Rosalsky.

Governor Dix has taken the initiative toward re-opening the Brandt case. He is acting now under the conviction that he was deceived and misled by persons in whom he had confidence. In that opinion he is supported by the attorney general, to whom the governor has referred all the papers in the Brandt case, and who has already detected a number of suspicious circumstances. The attorney general believes that the courts have been misled and that there was a shocking miscarriage of justice in the commitment of the young Swede.

The attorney general does not propose to drop the case when Brandt goes free. He is satisfied that nothing but a searching public investigation will fit the Brandt affair, and he proposes to direct that investigation against anybody who may appear to have acted improperly.

COURT DECLINED TO ACCEPT BILL

Whitecap's Defense Given Time to Amend.

MISCONDUCT WAS ALLEGED

Defense in the Case of Silas Adams, Convicted Whitecap, Took Exceptions
to the Manner in Which Lawyers Provided by State Presented Case to the Jury, but Court Could Not See Things in the Same Light.

Bloomington, Ind., February 12.—
When the attorneys for the defendant in the Silas Adams whitecapping case filed bills of exception with Judge Wilson, alleging misconduct on the part of the attorneys employed by Governor Marshall, considerable surprise was caused in the circuit court.
They argued before Judge Wilson
that the state's attorneys were guilty of misconduct in their arguments before the jury in appealing to the venue for a conviction on the ground that whitecapping ought to be stamped out, because it has existed in the hill sections of this county for thirty years, instead of appealing to the jury to decide the case in accordance with the law and evidence.

They assert that an appeal of this nature was prejudicial to the defendant to the extent that it prevented him from having a fair trial. They announced that they desire to have the bills placed in the record, after which they will make a motion for a new trial.

Judge Wilson declined to accept the exceptions as presented and the defendants were given time to amend them.

COULDN'T GET UP

Woman Prefers Prison to Rising in Time to Send Children to School.

Indianapolis, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Ella Frantz, thirty-seven years old, the mother of two girls, was sentenced to women's prison in juvenile court because she had persistently refused to send her children to school. Mrs.
Frantz was fined $25 and sentenced to serve three months.

Mrs. Frantz said in court that she could not get up in time to get them ready for school. The children have been in school less than thirty days since September, according to the records of the truancy department.

If the husband cannot find a housekeeper to care for the children they will be sent to the Indianapolis Orphans' home at his expense. At all times he has shown a willingness to aid the court in the proceedings, and he has said that he desired to educate his children, even if it were necessary to send his wife to prison to do it.

Court Ordered Acquittal.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 12.—Gertrude Burns, a colored woman, on trial for the murder of Laura Hahn, another colored woman, was acquitted in the Vanderburg county circuit court here
upon instructions of Judge Spencer, after the jury had been empaneled and part of the evidence introduced. It was proved that the Hahn woman was in the act of assaulting the Burns woman when the fatal shot was fired.

Confident Mystery Will Be Solved.

Indianapolis, Feb. 12.—The investigation into the death of Dr. Helene Knabe on the night of Oct. 23 is to continue. The committee of women from the Local Council of Women having charge of the raising of funds to carry on the investigation has placed the case in the hands of a detective agency, which is confident that the mystery will be solved.

Self-Defense Plea Sustained.

Columbus, Ind., Feb. 12.—Clyde Cooper, aged thirty-one, colored, on trial for the murder of Fred Brown, colored, was acquitted on a theory of self-defense. The trouble between the negroes started over a crap game
here a few weeks ago, when Brown was shot to death by Cooper.

Governor Goes Visiting.

Indianapolis, Feb. 12.—Governor and Mrs. Marshall have departed for Scottsdale, Ariz., to visit Mrs. Marshall's mother, Mrs. W. E. Kimsey, who spends her winters in Arizona for the benefit of her health. The governor expects to be away about two weeks.

Entire Train Goes in Ditch.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12.—Wabash
passenger train No. 3 on the Montpelier division went into a ditch at Tharman, ten miles east of here, when a bar dropped from the engine. The entire train went into the ditch, but none of the passengers was injured.

Both Motormen Injured.

Decatur, Ind., Feb. 12.—A Ft. Wayne & Springfield interurban car, crashed into another thirteen miles north of this city. The motorman of one car was seriously injured, the other received painful bruises.

Burned to Death in Home.

Seymour, Ind., Feb. 12.—Cher-
King, a civil war veteran, and his wife were burned to death when their residence on the outskirts of the city caught fire.

SEES VISIONS OF INVASION

Governor of Chihuahua Makes a Plea for Peace.

POINTS TO UNITED STATES

Holding Up Before the People the Specter of an Armed Invasion From the North Which Will End in the "Enslavement" of Mexicans, Gonzales Urges the Rebels of Northern State to Lay Down Their Arms.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 12.—In an effort to have them lay down their arms and become peaceable citizens, the specter of American intervention is being held up to rebels in northern Mexico.
Aureliano Gonzales, acting governor of Chihuahua, has issued a proclamation to the people of the revolting state and had it telegraphed to the most remote sections. The proclamation calls attention to the blood that was shed in the recent Madero revolution, "our late fratricidal war," he calls it, and then urges the people in the name of the fatherland that they love to lay down their arms and not again "augment the number of widows and orphans."

Referring to intervention, he says:
"The United States have declared that we are an inferior race, incapable of self-government and unworthy to figure in the concert of free people, and are preparing a formidable army to invade and profane the sacred ground
of our beloved country."

"If the voice of reason and patriotism does not assert itself, we will not only lose our ideals, but will be enslaved by a foreign invader and history will announce a tremendous fall that will burn upon the foreheads of our sons and inflict the infamous stigma of treason."

While this proclamation was being made public in the north Pino Suarez,
the vice president, in Mexico City, was making a statement that intervention was most remote, in order to stem the tide of anti-Americanism that has been rapidly rising all over Mexico, and which the proclamation of the Chihuahua official will only fan to greater fury.

Abram Gonzales, constitutional governor of Chihuahua, who is in El Paso enroute to Chihuahua with cash for distribution among the dissatisfied people, expects to go to Chihuahua today. If he cannot persuade Pasqual Orozco to become governor he will remain and resign his cabinet position.
If the rebels do not lay down their arms the government is planning to form a volunteer army if possible, to help fight them into submission.

MINORITY REPORT

Committee Divided in Its Findings in Stephenson Inquiry.

Washington, Feb. 12.—By a vote of 8 to 5, the senate committee on privileges and elections approved the report of the subcommittee, exonerating
Senator Stephenson, Republican, of Wisconsin, from charges of corruption in connection with his election. Senators Clapp, Jones, Kenyon, Kern and Lea voted in the negative and will present a minority report to the senate.
They took the position that the expenditure of $107,000 in the senatorial primary raised a presumption of wrongdoing on the part of Senator Stephenson, and that they failed to find in the evidence that such a presumption had been removed.

Poison in the Candy.

Minneapolis, Feb. 12.—Victims of a poisoned candy plot, three-year-old Bennie Reedy and Simon O'Malley, fifty years old, a hackman, are dead
from eating arsenic in sweets placed at the door of the O'Malley home.
Louis Spencer, who also ate the candy,
is at death's door.

Brakeman Crushed to Death.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 12.—Earl R.
Travis, twenty-six years old, a brakeman for the C. & E. I., was crushed by logs rolling off a car at Patoka, and died in a hospital here from internal injuries. His home was in Clay City, Ind.

Death of Lord Lister.

London, Feb. 12.—Lord Lister, the noted surgeon, is dead at the age of eighty-five. He became famous for the discovery of antiseptic system of treatment in surgery. He was a member of the Society of Friends.

TELEPHONE NUMBER, 1111.

Monday, February 12, 1912.

Mr. Taft favors a world wide inquiry on the cost of living. Let's all stop work a year, and find out what in thunder is the matter anyway.

It seems very strange that Prof. Parker should take so much bother to climb Mt. McKinley, when he can get up so high in a New York skyscraper.

The number of newspapers has fallen off slightly the past year. Had the subscribers even been willing to pay in cord wood, it would have helped these defunct publications.

Why spend time discussing how to keep the central bank out of Wall street control. If the whole thing is given into the charge of Mr. Debs, he will see that that little matter is attended to.

Secretary Nagel says big business should be encouraged. As some of our churches maintain "Cheerful letter exchanges," why not send a few to our trust presidents, along with the other shut-ins?

A great deal has been said recently in regard to the "$10,000-a-year man" being scarce. A man who is worth $10,000 a year is in great demand and so is any other man who is intelligent, resourceful, industrious and ambitious. Such a man can always have a position at a good salary. For instance, the following bona fide advertisement is now running in the "Want Ad" column of the Daily Republican:

YOUNG BUSINESS MAN—employed or unemployed, who has the ambition and desire to learn a good business, with no limit on salary if results are shown, can secure the position as manager and can get in the business on a profit sharing basis. This is for the young man not afraid to put his own ideas into action and not afraid to apply himself in the betterment of the business.

Here is a chance for some young man, such as are seldom offered in Rushville. This is for a young man who is not afraid to work and willing to apply himself. A young man who will give his employer his money's worth in service. One who is not lazy or insolent and who watches the clock. The following editorial in this morning's Indianapolis Star is to the point:

"Money may be the root of all evil and passion the besetting sin, but indolence is, always has been, and probably always will be the eternal weakness of humanity. The farmhand watches for the sunset, the factory employe drops his tools at the blow of the whistle, while the office clerk watches the clock. The great mass of humanity carries its daily task, does its work in the world, not because it loves to, but because it has to. The alarm clock calls us to the "daily grind" and "closing time" releases us. The hours between are, for most of us, a dreary round of drudgery, relieved only by the time we can steal for "pipe dreams" of what we would do if that coveted million were to fall into our lap.

"In the meantime there is one among us who stays on the job until it is done, and done well. He gives not grudgingly of his time and brain and energy. He learns the business he is in, learns it thoroughly and finds room for improvement. It matters little whether or not his own employer recognizes and rewards his efforts. There are plenty of competing employers looking anxiously for that $10,000-a-year man. His work is as sure of recognition from some quarter as the sunrise. The world is full of idle capital eager to go behind the man whose intelligence and industry can accomplish things, for your capitalist is probably indolent, like the rest of us, and anxious to find the man who can make money with his money.

"Nothing succeeds like success." It is as true as gospel. The boy who succeeds well at his minor task quickly finds opportunity to succeed in a greater one—and the rest of us, watching the world go by from our berth at a routine desk or bench, wonder at his "luck."

Do your valentine shopping early.

Not because the valentines will not last long but because it is best to get such business over with as soon as possible.

Politicians have considerable amount of nerve (of course, you understand this is only our own little opinion) to fix the date for conventions before the base ball schedule is made out.

How the Rush county Democrats today long for the good old days when the chief end in view, harmony, was usually realized.

You ought to feel better after reading the weather conditions in Rush county for the last thirty-one years.

Think what might have been. And perhaps, by this time, you have some conception of the term, "mean temperature."

Philosophy is that trait, opines the Kokomo Tribune, that teaches a man with the sore throat to rejoice that he is not a giraffe.

If John Gantner sees his shadder and crawls back in, Jim Casady will be safe.

But we got it that no matter what John says or does, his "goose is cooked."

Ah ha, but Thursday will tell the tale.

Harmony is a grand ole tune.

GRAND JURORS CONVENE TODAY

Wallace Morgan Will Conduct Deliberations of Body in Absence of Dennis O'Neil.

PROSECUTOR IS SICK AGAIN

Court Prepares For Cook Guardianship Suit Tomorrow—Claims Are Settled Today.

The grand jury convened this afternoon, having been called for today before the opening of this term of court. Wallace Morgan is acting as deputy prosecutor and is conducting the deliberations of the body. Marshall Hinchman is foreman.

Prosecutor Dennis O'Neil is in poor health again and will be unable to act in the capacity to which he was elected during the deliberations of the grand jury this term. He contemplates going to West Baden for his health, according to an announcement made at the court house today.

It is not known that the grand jury has any special lines upon which it will work. It is not known whether or not the clean-up contemplated by the prosecutor some time ago, or at least so announced by him, will be productive of any results.

Ed Chambers was excused by Judge Blair from grand jury service and Peter Hollowell of Center township was drawn to serve in his place. The other members of the jury are: Harvey J. Catt, J. C. Adams, W. H. Arnold, Marshall Hinchman and S. D. Cecil.

The court was preparing this afternoon for the guardianship case of Sallie Ann Cook which will begin tomorrow before a jury. It is expected to be about the largest case of the term. Bessie Cox filed suit for the appointment of a guardianship for the aged woman and it will be hotly contested by some of her relatives. The people live near Andersonville.

Two claims against the Martha J. Williams estate were settled in the circuit court this morning and judgment was rendered in the suit on a note against Charles Barber, filed by Albert B. Norris. Two of the cases were set for trial today.

Blanch Alsmen filed a claim against William C. McColgin, as administrator of the estate of Martha J. Williams, deceased some time ago for $493.30. This morning the court returned a verdict and judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $474.

Albert B. Norris asked $325 from Charles Barber on a note. The court made a trial finding and judgment for $289.91 on the principal and interest, and allowed $25 attorneys' fees, making a total judgment of $314.91 against the plaintiff.

Flora B. Williams had a claim of $1,040 against the estate of Martha J. Williams, Will C. McColgin being the administrator. The court entered trial finding and judgment today for $500.

FORGERIES LAST YEAR TOTALED $15,000,000.00.

So wide-spread has become the crime of forgery in the United States, and so great have been the losses within the last twelve months that companies issuing forgery insurance have adopted the most stringent restrictions in issuing the policies. While no accurate account of the losses has been kept, Albert St. Osborn, a New York expert on handwriting, estimates that they totalled $15,000,000 through checks and drafts alone, during 1911.

The chief new restriction now demanded is that the bank insured shall not open an account with any one not known personally to an afficer or director or whose integrity is not vouched for by a depositor. A favorite method of forgers recently has been to deposit a bogus check, apparently certified, on a bank remote from the depository, and withdraws the money two or three days later, or before it is discovered to be a forgery.

PURDUE CAR WILL VISIT RUSHVILLE

Special Exhibit Train Sent Out by Experiment Station Will Make 200 Stops.

WILL STAY HERE OVER NIGHT

It Will Arrive Here Evening of February 13, And be Open Next Morning.

Probably the most extensive campaign ever attempted along similar lines for the extension of agricultural knowledge throughout a state was opened at 8:25 o'clock a. m. January 25th, when a special exhibit car left Lafayette over the Big Four railroad on a tour of the New York Central lines. The car is to visit nearly two hundred villages, towns and cities during the late winter and spring months, and will probably not return to Lafayette until early in May.

The car will arrive at Rushville on the night of February 13 and will remain until the next morning.

The exhibit will be open to the public during the morning hours. Two hundred thousand people will be reached during the itinerary of the trip. "Exhibits have been prepared," said Prof. G. I. Christie, superintendent of the Purdue Agricultural Extension Department, "showing the various lines of experimental work carried on at the Purdue Experiment Station. Seeds, samples of fertilizers, methods of handling crops, models of poultry houses and photographs will be used in a large way to aid the work of the men who will accompany the car.

"The shortness of the stay at each point precludes the giving of any addresses, but the farmers and city men are invited to ask any questions and are assured that Messrs. J. F. Mulligan and Robert Falls, who are to be in charge of the exhibit, will be amply competent to present the University's views on such subjects. Both are Purdue graduates and have won considerable recognition by their ability along agricultural lines."

The car was secured through the courtesy of John Emig, industrial agent of the Big Four railroad, who expressed the desire of his company to do anything possible to convince Indiana farmers of the wonderful resources to be found at their very doors, and thus keep them in the realm of Hoosierdom.

Mrs. May W. Donnan's lecture on Saturday afternoon on the Elizabethan dramatists was one of the most interesting in the present series of talks on the drama. Mrs. Donnan brought out with infinite resource the achievements of dramatists of the period and added something new to the spirit and flavor of the plays of Christopher Marlowe to whom subsequent dramatists were so greatly indebted. Mrs. Donnan said further that the Elizabethan dramatists had suffered somewhat from indiscriminate praise; in this connection she emphasized the advantage in dispassionate criticism of art. Preceding the regular lecture Mrs. Donnan called attention to the campaign that is being conducted by the Drama League of America to educate the school children toward an appreciation of the best dramatic literature. The primary object of the Drama League is to uplift the stage and improve the standards of taste regarding the contemporary drama.

WHITE PLAGUE IS FINALLY VICTOR

Ephriam Redenbaugh, Age 34, Dies at His Home in Blue Ridge After Long Illness.

FUNERAL WILL BE TOMORROW

Realizing End Was Near Victim Made Funeral Arrangements Several Days Ago.

Ephriam Redenbaugh died at the home of his mother in Blue Ridge Saturday following a long illness caused by tuberculosis. Had he lived fifteen days longer he would have been thirty-five years old. Mr. Redenbaugh knew death was approaching and was calmly awaiting the end. It is reported he made his funeral arrangements several days ago before lapsing into unconsciousness.

He made one of the bravest of fights against the dread white plague, but realized a long time ago that he had lost. In the beginning of the fight he went to Colorado and spent twenty months in that State, but found that he was receiving no benefit from the change of climate. Then he returned to Shelby county to battle as best he could against the overpowering enemy. He came back from the Colorado trip the twenty-ninth of last April and since then had been making his home with his mother.

Mr. Redenbaugh has made all the arrangements for his funeral service and burial. His last days were sad indeed, as his aged mother is critically ill and his wife also gave way beneath the weight of her sorrow, having suffered a nervous breakdown about a week ago. She was said to be showing some improvement today and it is believed she will recover.

Besides his wife and mother, Mr. Redenbaugh leaves four brothers, Joseph, William, Benton and Philip, all of whom reside near Blue Ridge.

Mr. Redenbaugh united with the Christian Union church at Blue Ridge a few days ago, but had been a church member for many years, having formerly been of the Methodist faith. He was a true and devout follower of the Master and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge at Blue Ridge.

The funeral services will be held at the Christian Union church at ten o'clock Tuesday morning, the Revs. O. J. McMullen and Charles Whitted officiating, and the interment will be made in Forest Hill cemetery.

Mme. Giry Caught Mr. Manager Richard a Mighty Box on the Ear.

And Mme. Giry caught Mr. Manager Richard a mighty box on the ear, before Mr. Manager Moncharmin had time to intervene. But it was not the withered hand of the angry old dame that fell on the managerial ear, but the envelope itself, the cause of all the trouble, the magic envelope that opened with the blow, scattering the bank-notes, which escaped in a fantastic whirl of giant butterflies.

The two managers gave a shout, and the same thought made them both go on their knees, feverishly picking up and hurriedly examining the precious scrap of paper.

"Are they still genuine, Moncharmin?"

"Are they still genuine, Richard?"

"Yes, they are still genuine!"

Above their heads, Mme. Giry's three teeth were clashing in a noisy contest, full of hideous interjections. But all that could be clearly distinguished was this Leit-motif:

"I, a thief! . . . I, a thief, I?"

She choked with rage. She shouted: "I never heard of such a thing!"

And, suddenly, she darted up to Richard again.

"In any case," she yelled, "you, M. Richard, ought to know better than I where the twenty thousand francs went to!"

"I?" asked Richard, astounded. "And how should I know?"

Moncharmin, looking severe and dissatisfied, at once insisted that the good lady should explain herself.

"What does this mean, Mme. Giry?" he asked. "And why do you say that M. Richard ought to know better than you where the twenty-thousand francs went to?"

As for Richard, who felt himself turning red under Moncharmin's eyes, he took Mme. Giry by the wrist and shook it violently. In a voice growling and rolling like thunder, he roared:

"Why should I know better than you where the twenty-thousand francs went to? Why? Answer me!"

"Because they went into your pocket!" gasped the old woman, looking at him as if he were the devil incarnate.

Richard would have rushed upon Mme. Giry, if Moncharmin had not stayed his avenging hand and hastened to ask her, more gently:

"How can you suspect my partner, M. Richard, of putting twenty-thousand francs in his pocket?"

"I never said that," declared Mme. Giry, "seeing that it was myself who put the twenty-thousand francs into M. Richard's pocket." And she added, under her voice, "There! It's out!"

And may the ghost forgive me!

Richard began bellowing anew, but Moncharmin authoritatively ordered him to be silent.

"Allow me! Allow me! Let the woman explain herself. Let me question her." And he added: "It is really astonishing that you should take up such a tone! . . . We are on the verge of clearing up the whole mystery. And you're in a rage! . . . You're wrong to behave like that. . . . Un-enjoying myself immensely!"

Mme. Giry, like the martyr that she was, raised her head, her face beaming with faith in her own innocence.

"You tell me there were twenty-thousand francs in the envelope which I put into M. Richard's pocket; but I put you again that I knew nothing about it. . . . Nor M. Richard, either, for that matter!"

"Aha!" said Richard, suddenly assuming a swaggering air which Moncharmin did not like. "I knew nothing either! You put twenty-thousand francs in my pocket and I knew nothing either! I am very glad to hear it, Mme. Giry!"

"Yes," the terrible dame agreed, "yes, it's true. We neither of us knew anything. But you, you must have ended by finding out!"

Richard would certainly have swallowed Mme. Giry alive, if Moncharmin had not been there! But Moncharmin protected her. He resumed his questions:

"What sort of envelope did you put in M. Richard's pocket? It was not the one which we gave you, the one which you took to Box Five before our eyes; and yet that was the one which contained the twenty-thousand francs."

"I beg your pardon. The envelope which M. le directeur gave me was the one which I slipped into M. le directeur's pocket," explained Mme. Giry. "The one which I took to the ghost's box was another envelope, just like it, which the ghost gave me beforehand and which I hid up my sleeve."

So saying, Mme. Giry took from her sleeve an envelope ready prepared and similarly addressed to that containing the twenty-thousand francs. The managers took it from her. They examined it and saw that it was fastened with seals stamped with their own managerial seal. They opened it. It notes like those which had so much astounded them the month before.

"How simple!" said Richard.

"How simple!" repeated Moncharmin. And he continued with his eyes fixed upon Mme. Giry, as though trying to hypnotize her.

"So it was the ghost who gave you this envelope and told you to substitute it for the one which we gave you? And it was the ghost who told you to put the other into M. Richard's pocket?"

"Yes, it was the ghost."

"Then would you mind giving us a specimen of your little talents? Here is the envelope. Act as though we knew nothing."

"As you please, gentlemen."

Mme. Giry took the envelope with the twenty notes inside it and made for the door. She was on the point of going out when the two managers rushed at her.

"Oh, no! Oh, no! We're not going to be 'done' a second time! Once bitten, twice shy!"

"I beg your pardon, gentlemen," said the old woman, in self-exuse, "you told me to act as though you knew nothing. . . . Well, if you knew nothing, I should go away with your envelope!"

"And then how would you slip it into my pocket?" argued Richard, whom Moncharmin fixed with his left eye, while keeping his right on Mme. Giry; a proceeding likely to strain his sight, but Moncharmin was prepared to go to any length to discover the truth.

"I am to slip it into your pocket when you least expect it, sir. You know that I always take a little turn behind the scenes, in the course of in order to bow, Richard continued to do so from prudence, until he the evening, and I often go with my daughter to the ballet-foyer, which I am entitled to do, as her mother; I bring her her shoes, when the ballet is about to begin. . . . In fact, I come and go as I please. . . . The subscribers come and go too. . . . So do you, sir. . . . There are lots of people about. . . . I go behind you and slip the envelope into the tail-pocket of your dress-coat. . . . There's no witchcraft about that!"

"No witchcraft?" growled Richard, rolling his eyes like Jupiter Tonans. "No witchcraft! Why, I've just caught you in a lie, you old witch!"

Mme. Giry bristled, with her three teeth sticking out of her mouth.

"And why, may I ask?"

"Because I spent that evening watching Box Five and the sham envelope which you put there. I did not go to the ballet-foyer for a second."

"No, sir, and I did not give you the envelope that evening, but at the next performance. . . . on the evening when the under-secretary of state for fine arts. . . ."

At these words, M. Richard suddenly interrupted Mme. Giry:

"Yes, that's true, I remember now! The under-secretary went behind the scenes. He asked for me. I went down to the ballet-foyer for a moment. I was on the foyer steps. . . . The under-secretary and his chief clerk were in the foyer itself. . . . I suddenly turned around. . . . you had passed behind me, Mme. Giry. . . . You seemed to push against me. . . . Oh, I can see you still, I can see you still!"

"Yes, that's it, sir, that's it. I had just finished my little business. That pocket of yours, sir, is very handy!"

And Mme. Giry once more suited the action to the word. She passed behind M. Richard and, so nimbly that Moncharmin himself was impressed by it, slipped the envelope into the pocket of one of the tails of M. Richard's dress-coat.

"Of course!" exclaimed Richard, looking a little pale. "It's very clever of O. G. The problem which he had to solve was this: how to do away with any dangerous intermediary between the man who gives the twenty-thousand francs and the man who receives it. And by far the best thing he could hit upon was to come and take the money from my pocket without my noticing it, as I myself did not know that it was there. It's wonderful!"

"Oh, wonderful, no doubt!" Moncharmin agreed. "Only, you forget, Richard, that I provided ten-thousand francs of the twenty and that nobody put anything in my pocket!"

CHAPTER XVII.

The Safety-Pin Again.

Moncharmin's last phrase so clearly expressed the suspicion in which he now held his partner that it was bound to cause a stormy explanation, at the end of which it was agreed that Richard should yield to all Moncharmin's wishes, with the object of helping him to discover the miscreant who was victimizing them.

This brings us to the interval after the Garden Act, with the strange conduct observed by M. Remy and those curious lapses from the dignity that might be expected of the managers. It was arranged between Richard and Moncharmin, first, that Richard should repeat the exact movements which he had made on the night of the disappearance of the first twenty-thousand francs; and, second, that Moncharmin should not for an instant lose sight of Richard's coat-tail pocket, into which Mme. Giry was to slip the twenty-thousand francs.

M. Richard went and placed himself at the identical spot where he had stood when he bowed to the under-secretary for fine arts. M. Moncharmin took up his position a few steps behind him.

Mme. Giry passed, rubbed up against M. Richard, got rid of her twenty-thousand francs in the manager's coat-tail pocket and disappeared. . . . Or, rather, she was conjured away. In accordance with the instructions received from Moncharmin a few minutes earlier, Mercier took the good lady to the acting-manager's office and turned the key on her, thus making it impossible for her to communicate with her ghost.

Meanwhile, M. Richard was bending and bowing and scraping and walking backward, just as if he had that high and mighty minister, the under-secretary for fine arts, before him. Only, though, these marks of politeness would have created no astonishment if the under-secretary of state had really been in front of M. Richard, they caused an easily comprehensible amazement to the spectators of this very natural but quite inexplicable scene when M. Richard had nobody in front of him.

M. Richard bowed. . . . to nobody; bent his back. . . . before nobody; and walked backward. . . . before nobody. . . . And, a few steps behind him, M. Moncharmin did the same thing that he was doing, in addition to pushing away M. Remy and begging M. de La Borderie, the ambassador and the manager of the Credit Central, "not to touch M. le directeur."

Moncharmin, who had his own ideas, did not want Richard to come to him presently, when the twenty-thousand francs were gone, and say: "Perhaps it was the ambassador. . . . or the manager of the Credit Central. . . . or Remy."

The more so as, at the time of the first scene, as Richard himself admitted, Richard had met nobody in that part of the theater after Mme. Giry had brushed up against him. . . .

Having begun by walking backward in order to bow, Richard continued to do so from prudence, until he reached the passage leading to the offices of the management. In this way, he was constantly watched by Moncharmin from behind and himself kept an eye on any one approaching from the front. Once more, this novel method of walking behind the scenes, adopted by the managers of our National Academy of Music, attracted attention; but the managers themselves thought of nothing but their twenty-thousand francs.

On reaching the half-dark passage, Richard said to Moncharmin, in a low voice:

"I am sure that nobody has touched me. . . . You had now better keep at some distance from me and watch me till I come to the door of the office; it is better not to arouse suspicion and we can see anything that happens."

But Moncharmin replied, "No, Richard, no! You walk ahead and I'll walk immediately behind you! I won't leave you by a step!"

"But, in that case," exclaimed Richard, "they will never steal our twenty-thousand francs!"

"I should hope not, indeed!" declared Moncharmin.

"Then what we are doing is absurd!"

"We are doing exactly what we did last time. . . . Last time, I joined you as you were leaving the stage and followed close behind you down this passage."

"That's true!" sighed Richard, shaking his head and passively obeying Moncharmin.

Two minutes later, the joint managers locked themselves into their office. Moncharmin himself put the key in his pocket:

"We remained locked up like this, last time," he said, "until you left the opera to go home."

"That's so. No one came and disturbed us, I suppose?"

"No one."

"Then," said Richard, who was trying to collect his memory, "then I must certainly have been robbed on my way home from the opera!"

"No," said Moncharmin in a drier tone than ever, "no, that's impossible. For I dropped you in my cab. The twenty-thousand francs disappeared at your place; there's not a shadow of a doubt about that."

"It's incredible!" protested Richard. "I am sure of my servants. . . . and if one of them had done it, he would have disappeared since."

Moncharmin shrugged his shoulders, as though to say that he did not wish to enter into details, and Richard began to think that Moncharmin was treating him in a very insupportable fashion.

"Moncharmin, I've had enough of this!"

"Richard, I've had too much of it!"

"Do you dare to suspect me?"

"Yes, of a silly joke."

"One doesn't joke with twenty-thousand francs."

"That's what I think," declared Moncharmin, unfolding a newspaper and ostentatiously studying its contents.

"What are you doing?" asked Richard. "Are you going to read the paper next?"

"Yes, Richard, until I take you home."

"Like last time?"

"Yes, like last time."

Richard snatched the paper from Moncharmin's hands. Moncharmin stood up, more irritated than ever, and found himself faced by an exasperated Richard, who, crossing his arms on his chest, said:

"Look here, I'm thinking of this, I'm thinking of what I might think if, like last time, after my spending the evening alone with you, you brought me home and if, at the moment of parting, I perceived that twenty-thousand francs had disappeared from my coat-pocket. . . . like last time."

"And what might you think?" asked Moncharmin, crimson with rage.

"I might think that, as you hadn't left me by a foot's breadth and as, by your own wish, you were the only one to approach me, like last time, I might think that, if that twenty-thousand francs was no longer in my pocket, it stood a very good chance of being in yours!"

Moncharmin leaped up at the suggestion.

"Oh!" he shouted. "A safety-pin!"

"What do you want a safety-pin for?"

"To fasten you up with! . . . A safety-pin! . . . A safety-pin!"

To be continued.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

ITS MANY ECONOMIES.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.

A dollar's worth of paper bags will be ample to cook for any average family throughout a month. Add a box of clips at ten cents—they will be good for another month, and still another in careful hands—and the outlay is still inconsiderable. Add still further fifty cents for greasing—a pound of lard, half a pound of butter, half a pound of drippings—and the total is still more than moderate. Notwithstanding, it is more than plenty of us would care to spend monthly merely in the interest of flavor or even of ease. Plenty more of us like to take duties laboriously, feeling that thus we win to the kingdom of thrift. So if there were no economic offset, paper bag cooking would have to be reckoned either a fad or a luxury. It is neither—it has come to stay.

Say you pay three to four dollars a month for gas—which is about a fair average. If the paper bag cooking cuts this a third, it has almost paid for itself at one fell swoop.

Next comes the saving in quantity of food cooked. Paper bag cooking is one-fifth to one-fourth ahead there. In pot cooking the scales show a shrinkage treble that of bag cooking. This is a saving well worth while, yet far from telling the whole story. Things bag-cooked nourish better because they are more readily digested.

Set this extra nourishment at one-tenth of the food cost, and the food cost for a family ten dollars a week. Right there you have more the price of bags, grease, clips, etc.—almost the cost of the gas.

But even then the sum in domestic economy is just fairly begun. Paper bag cooking not only saves thus negatively by preventing loss and insuring full edibility, but positively—and in many, many ways, as, for example, in the food bought. Round steak is more nourishing than any other—but the fact has been held to be offset by the extra dentist's bill the eating of it necessitated. Paper bag cooking makes it as tender as porterhouse itself—moreover, there is no bone to be thrown away—nothing but clear meat. And the favorable difference in price runs from eight to ten cents the pound.

Living is dearer in every way—the one possible alleviation of this increasing cost, without skimping of appetites, is in buying things less costly and so cooking them as to make the difference all in their favor.

Paper bag cooking will do it; it has done it for me. Let's recapitulate. Say one uses one hundred and fifty bags in the month, and then allow seventy-five cents for clips, lard, butter, and dripping. This gives an initial debit of two dollars beginning the account thus:

DEBIT.
Paper bags, butter, clips, one month	$2.00
CREDIT.
Gas saved	$1.00
Saved in wear and tear (5 per cent)50
Food saved ($1.00 a week)	$4.00
Saved on meat (75 cents week)	$3.00
Roast Ducks, Banana Stuffing, Wash your ducks well inside with cold salt water—if they are wild ducks let them lie in the salt water for fifteen minutes. Drain, wipe dry inside and out, and season very lightly with salt and paprika inside, sprinkling black pepper on the outside. Set on ice while you make a stuffing of bananas cut in small cubes, mixed with their own bulk of toasted bread crumbs and seasoned with salt, black pepper, a little chopped celery and plenty of cold butter. Stuff the ducks lightly, truss firmly, grease well all over and tie thin bacon over the breasts. Put in a well greased bag, fitting them close together. Add the juice of a lemon, a wineglass of either claret or sherry, seal bag and cook in a hot oven ten minutes, then slack heat, and finish—it ought to require about forty minutes more.

PASTRY.

By Nicolas Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

Pastry, cakes and sweets generally are wonderfully improved by being cooked in paper bags. The concentration of heat which is thus gained has the effect of making the puff paste lighter and more regular in texture and all cake mixtures "rise" in a manner the open oven cannot produce.

Then again the cooking takes much less time, and I need not point out the value of this. In the old style the oven door had frequently to be opened to watch progress. The pastry was thus exposed to draughts of cool air, which could but produce "doughy," heavy and unsatisfactory results.

Puff Paste: Take one pound flour, three-quarters of a pound butter, and mix the flour with water and salt lightly, to the consistency of butter. Leave this dough for half an hour, then flatten it with your hand, and lay your butter on top of the paste. Then fold four-corner way, and give it two rolls as usual. Leave your paste in a cool place for forty-five minutes, then roll twice more. Leave it for forty-five minutes, and roll twice again. Place it in a larger paper bag which will not touch the paste. Put on broiler and allow twenty minutes in a hot oven.

KING NICHOLAS

Report of Montenegro
Ruler's Flight Denied.

Vienna, Feb. 12.—The story telegraphed from Cetinje that King Nicholas had fled because of a military revolt, is not true. The king is at St.
Petersburg, where he went to carry out a visit to the czar which had been arranged for some time ago.

URGES A NEW POLICY IN THE PHILIPPINES

Prof. Piper Gives Results of Observation.

Washington, Feb. 12.—An interview denouncing the American policy in the Philippines has been given out by Prof.
Charles V. Piper of the department of agriculture, who has just returned from the Orient, where he spent thirteen months making investigations as to the agricultural development and possibilities of the Philippines and other Pacific islands. An "erroneous and effeminate" policy pursued by the United States is retarding
the agricultural development of the Philippines, which, Prof. Piper says, are among the richest and most fertile islands in the world. Prof. Piper said:
"I see little hope of any rapid improvement in Philippine agriculture unless we adopt a policy that will make them prosperous. I doubt if they are any better off in this respect than under Spanish rule. Under the delusion that we are proving to the world that our motives are purely altruistic, we are virtually forbidding American enterprise to develop the richest islands in the world.
"I am convinced that this is a great mistake, not only because it is an effeminate, un-American policy, but because it is keeping material property from the Philippines which it is our duty to promote quite as much as their educational and political welfare."

GULF BOILING

Strange Phenomenon Reported by Seamen Putting in at Galveston.
Galveston, Tex., Feb. 12.—A lake of boiling water in the Gulf of Mexico is reported by vessels having passed through and around the strange phenomenon at a point in the western gulf about 240 miles south by east of the Texas coast. The area of hot water was variously given as ranging from a half to a mile in circumference, and seamen claim it is unquestionably due to an explosion on the bottom of the sea of some volcanic eruption, as the water appears to be greatly agitated in several places within the hot lake.

Saloon Keeper Killed and Robbed.

New York, Feb. 12.—As he tried to wrest a revolver from a holdup man, Patrick Burns, a Bronx saloon keeper, once chief of police in Toledo and in Findlay, O., was shot and instantly killed. His bartender, Frank Newberger, trying to come to his assistance,
was beaten unconscious with the butt
of a revolver by a companion of the holdup man, after which the two rifled the cash drawer and escaped.

Serious Deluge in New York.

New York, Feb. 12.—Two thirty-six-inch water mains burst at Ninety-seventh street and West End avenue,
drowning twenty-four horses in a cellar stable on Ninety-sixth street, and bursting a gas main, the fumes of which overcame several persons in apartments and private houses nearby.

Hints at Foul Play.

Mt. Pleasant, Pa., Feb. 12.—Following the deathbed declarations of May Halley, a sixteen-year-old telephone operator, Coroner McMurray's deputies are searching for James Keller,
aged fifty, a wealthy world-wide traveler. Miss Halley died under conditions suggestive of foul play.

Victims of Defective Gas Pipe.

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 12.—Miss Marie Seliger, aged twenty-seven, was asphyxiated and her companion, Miss Margaret Mills, aged twenty-three, was so badly affected by gas that she died.
A defective pipe permitted gas to enter the room, overcoming them.

SEEK INVESTIGATION OF LAW'S VIOLATION

Railway Trainmen Urge Strict Enforcement.

Indianapolis, Feb. 12.—The interstate commerce commission and the railroad commission of Indiana were appealed to for the strict enforcement of federal and state railroad laws by representatives of the Indiana Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who have concluded a two-day biennial session in this city. The Indiana commission members met with the trainmen and promised to investigate charges made of violation of the full-crew law. The legislative board of the trainmen was instructed to prepare the records of political candidates for distribution.
Municipal ordinances regulating the blocking of railroad crossings were arraigned. The trainmen say it is impossible to cut the long trains used today. Railroad employees are fined for violation of the city ordinances and the hardships are attendant on the employees instead of the companies, the trainmen say.

Practically all of the legislative recommendations were endorsed. The recommendations were in regard to railroad regulation which would tend to better the condition of the train-men.

"FRATS" BARRED

School Authorities at Indianapolis
Issue an Ultimatum.

Indianapolis, Feb. 12.—Members of the senior classes of Manual Training and Shortridge high schools today were asked to sign statements that they do not hold and have not held membership in any high school secret society since Feb. 1, 1911.

Principals of the two high schools have received copies of the statements from the board of school commissioners and their distribution is part of the plan of the board to secure rigid enforcement of the state law forbidding Greek letter fraternities and sororities in the public schools. Should any member of the two graduating classes refuse to sign the declarations
he will be denied his diploma.

The school commissioners have announced their determination to rid both schools of Greek letter societies.

Convict Attacks Warden.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 12.—Deputy Warden Davis of the state prison is dying
as the result of a murderous attack made upon him in the prison chapel
by Albert Prince, a negro convict.
The assault occurred while the convicts were filing back to their cell corridors from chapel. Davis was standing by the door watching the men pass when Prince suddenly jumped out of line and, pulling a dirk, began slashing at him. Before the guards and other convicts could overpower him he had inflicted fatal injuries.

Poisoner Sentenced For Life.

Henderson, Ky., Feb. 12.—Philip Burris has been sentenced to life imprisonment for poisoning Henry Royster. The jury accepted the commonwealth's charge that Burris sought with poisoned beer to remove all the Royster family except a daughter, Blanche, that he might marry her and get all the Royster property.

"He was a man of love, also. That was the crowning virtue of his life. He was tender, forgiving and merciful and his love was deep and big enough to forgive the shortcomings of his enemies."

The pastor pointed out there were many incidents to show his big-heartedness. He recalled the time when Lincoln visited the army of the Potomac, Lincoln, the man who bore the burden of the union and looked after the general things rather than the details. A wounded southern boy was in the northern ranks a captive, and when he heard Lincoln was in the lines, he had hope, but again held out none because he feared a man so great as the president would never give attention to his case. But Lincoln heeded his plea and ordered a message sent through the Confederate lines from the dying boy to his mother.

The pastor alluded to the sympathy of Lincoln who granted so many pardons and was constantly being reprimanded by the war secretary who believed it would reduce the discipline in the army to nothing.

The Rev. Mr. Yocum said the Bickby letter, the Gettysburg speech and the second inaugural speech were the three greatest gems Lincoln left to posterity. He said the Bickby letter, the greatest of these, was the letter to the mother who had sacrificed five sons on the altar of the union. He pointed out the letter was only sixty words, but in that brief number the martyred president expressed a world of sympathy. He recalled that Lincoln always wrote briefly and expressed much.

"But there were limitations in the religion of Lincoln," declared the Rev. Mr. Yocum. "His greatest fault was that he never made public confession of Jesus Christ and affiliated with any church. He said the creeds demanded too much. He said that if any church would admit him on the simple confession of Jesus Christ he would join that church. He reached as near the mark as it was possible for human to, but he had that one fault."

"It is fitting that Lincoln should be martyred. His life crystallized into the purest life. It was he who asked 200,000 men to lay down their lives and it was fitting that he should lay his down by the humblest private. So let us emulate the virtues of this great man forget his faults and be better for it."

WANT A NEW HIGHWAY

Sixty-Nine Richland Township Freeholders File Petition Today.

A petition was filed in the auditor's office today for a new highway in Richland township. It is signed by sixty-nine freeholders and voters of the township. Its petitioners request that the road be improved by grading, draining and paving with crushed stone. It has been rumored for several days that a petition for a stretch of new highway in Orange township eleven miles long would be filed with the auditor but such has not been done yet.

COLD WAVES RUN THEIR COURSE

Weather Bureau Says the Periods of Lower Temperature Will be of Short Duration.

FOR REMAINDER OF WINTER

Elwood Kirkwood, County Weather Observer, Prepares Statistics on February Weather for 31 Years.

The cold wave which has held Rushville, Rush county and other sections of Indiana in its grip for a month or more will be broken, according to dispatches from the weather bureau at Washington. The period of low temperature which prevailed for about forty-three days will give away to one of more seasonable temperature. Future cold waves during this month and next will be of very short duration, according to the weather forecast.

The temperature rose several degrees above the average for the last few days Sunday. The thermometer registered approximately thirty degrees all day Sunday. This was warm compared to the temperature of last week when the mercury fell as low as fifteen degrees below zero one morning last week. Today's temperature was expected to be slightly lower than yesterday's and a noticeable rise is expected tomorrow.

Elwood Kirkwood weather observer for Rush county, has prepared February weather statistics for the last thirty-one years. The highest monthly mean temperature for that period, his observations show, was 36.3 degrees, which occurred in 1909. The lowest monthly mean for thirty-one years was 16.9 and was recorded in 1885. The normal temperature for this period was 27.9 degrees. The highest maximum temperature was 71 degrees and occurred in 1883. The lowest minimum temperature 25 degrees below zero, registered in 1889.

The normal rainfall for the period was 3.61 inches. The largest rainfall observed was in 1883, and was 8.31 inches. The smallest rainfall was in 1907, and was .35 inches. The following is the mean, maximum and minimum temperatures and rainfall for February for the last thirty-one years:

Year	Mean	Max.	Min.	Rain
1882	34.5	59	15	6.30
1883	31.4	71	0	8.31

WILL J. HENLY MARRIES AGAIN

Rush County Man, Divorced January 31, is Wedded to Myrtle E. Robinson in Indianapolis.

IS MARRIED IN NEW HOME

Not Known Generally Divorce Had Been Granted to First Wife, Formerly Sarar A. Monroe.

William J. Henley of the law firm of Henley & Baker, announced to friends Saturday his marriage Friday evening to Miss Myrtle Eleanor Robinson, says the Indianapolis Star. The Rev. Morton C. Pearson, pastor of the First Friends church, officiated at the ceremony which took place in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Henley at 2834 Central avenue. Only the immediate members of the families were present.

According to a statement made in the marriage license application Mr. Henley is 49 years old and his bride is 29. She gave her occupation as a designer. Mr. Henley stated that he had been married before and that he was divorced Jan. 31, 1912.

The marriage license was obtained Friday evening almost an hour after the clerk's office closed. It was issued by Chief Deputy Clerk Richard Coleman, who said yesterday he did not know who the applicants were except that Mr. Henley was a lawyer who had not been in Indianapolis very long. The witness to the application was George F. Mull, an attorney.

Mr. Henley, who is a native of Rush county, Indiana, was a member of the Appellate court of Indiana from 1897 to 1904. He then went to Chicago and became president of the Chicago & Great Western Railroad Company, resigning in January, 1910.

Mr. Henley returned to Indianapolis about a year ago, his first wife, Mrs. Sarah A. Henley, retaining a residence in Chicago. She filed suit for divorce in the Cook circuit court at Chicago, Ill., January 25, making statutory charges and alleging desertion. The property owned by Mr. Henley was valued at $100,000, according to her divorce complaint, in addition to a residence in Chicago, valued at $14,000 and a farm in Rush county, Indiana, valued at $10,000. Mr. Henley, she said, has a large income from his practice. It was not known generally in Indianapolis that the divorce had been granted until Mr. Henley so stated in his affidavit for a marriage license.

"ABOUT" IS RIGHT.

Connersville News: Rushville is about to attempt to solve the water problem by installing meters in the homes or business places of all consumers. This plan, it is argued, will stop the waste of water which is blamed for most of the trouble.

Water freezes every night the year round in Alto Cruceiro, Bolivia.

PUBLIC SALE

We will sell at Public Auction at the Klondike Stock Farm, 1 1/2 miles east of Mays, and 1 1/2 miles west of Raleigh, on

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1912

At 10:00 O'clock A. M. Sharp, the following described property:

21 HEAD OF HORSES 21

One 10-year-old Dapple Gray Mare, bred, weight 1750, sound, by Weaver's Imported Percheron horse, dam by "Old Favors" 765, a regular breeder, colts to show on day of sale. One 4-year-old Bay Horse, by Decide 30588, weight 1950, this horse matured will weigh 2200. One Black Gelding, 5 years old, weight 1750, the best horse I ever raised, broke every way, a good worker, at all harness, can't hitch wrong, sired by Decide. One 6-year-old Bay Mare, bred, weight 1600, by Decide, work anywhere, a brood mare, colts to show. One 4-year-old Dapple Gray Mare, broke, sound, by imported "Rapid," a good one. Two coming 3-year-old Bay Fillies, fairly well mated, dam by Decide, Sire Imported Percheron "Capstan." One Bay Filly, driver, dam by Warren C 2:11 1/2, Sire "Shickem Wilkes," a dandy. One Bay Filly, coming 4, by Warren C, gentle, family broke, not afraid of autos. One coming 2-year-old Dark Gray Colt, by Rapid, will make a ton horse matured. One Dark Bay coming 3-year-old horse, by Decide, a good one. Two yearling Fillies by Decide, out of my best brood mare, great prospects. One yearling Filly, dam by Decide, sired by Waggoner's Belgian Stallion. One Broke Bay Driving Mare, by Warren C. Nice driving mare. One coming 2-year-old Colt, by Shickem Wilkes, dam by Old Blue Bull. The dam of this colt has been a mile in 29; a prospect for something fast. One Bay Mare, coming 3-year-old, sound, sired by "Togo." Two Bay Colts, coming 3-year-old, sound, sired by "Togo." One Brown Mare, 9-year-old, weight 1600, good worker and a fine mare; can't hitch wrong. One coming 3-year-old Bay Gelding, 16 hands high, sired by "Allertel," dam by Redfield; a good one.

I am making the above offerings of horses which I have bred myself. All the draft stuff are either sired or their dams are sired by the Imported Stallion Decide 30588 American. His dam was sired by Old Favors 765, which I consider the best Percheron Horse ever imported to America. This horse was never beaten in the show ring in his class.
